Located in Barsac, this estate was one of the last to pick at the end of October/early November. Pale and bright gold colored, the 2018 Les Dames de Bonneau gives lifted, vibrant scents of peach preserves, orange marmalade, spice cake and jasmine, giving way to notes of fallen leaves and chalk dust plus a touch of allspice. Full, rich, bright and unctuous, it has wonderful freshness and a long, spicy finish.

Sweetness: Sweet

Located in Barsac, this estate was one of the last to pick at the end of October/early November. Bright and pale gold colored, the 2018 Bonneau comes tripping out of the glass with wonderful botrytis-inspired notions of beeswax, fungi and musk perfume over a core of lemon marmalade, citrus peel, dried apricots and allspice plus wafts of candied ginger and preserved kumquats. Full, rich, seductive and totally opulent, the palate delivers wonderful freshness cutting through the intense flavors, finishing spicy.
